RALPH FREEMAN, Esq;

IF all thoſe Secrets in Nature which exerciſe the Wit of Man, there is none whoſe Diſcovery would be of more real Benefit and Advantage to Old England, in the Opinion of the Impartial of all Denominations, than the Diſcovery of Ways and Means for bringing all who are con- the ſame Intereſt, to act on the ſame Plan. ciple many Publick-ſpirited Men have been ing for a long Time to reduce into Practice, to that Party Rage eſpecially, which hath d ſo unhappily divided us: Wiſely concludeif they could but once bring them to a *Coali*ey term it, it muſt not only greatly conduce wn Fame in particular, but to the General Tranquillity of their Country. Inſpir'd by laudable a Motive, each hath proceeded in t Way, and it muſt be confeſs'd, to their Glory, that no Pains have been ſpar'd to ſe, and no Project left untry'd to render it Numberleſs are the ſalutary Schemes which offer'd upon this Head, and large the Exink and Paper to bring it to bear, notwithwhich, it is very much to be lamented, that all fallen exceeding ſhort of the good Purpos'd by them, and have induc'd many to the Execution of it is impracticable, and full y in effect, as the finding out the Perpetual r the Philoſopher's Stone. A certain famous who had almoſt worn himſelf out in his Re this Reconciling Experiment, and who was tely fond of his Brat, that he was as full and ſly confident of his Succeſs in it, as was a Gentleman not long ſince in the finding out tude, hath at laſt quite given over his Studies, away to the South of France, for the Recoe Health, and the Repairing of his Intellects. s was pretty much, I remember, in the Naoor crazy Capuchin's I have ſomewhere read ne Day took it in his Head to acquaint his in a Fit of Enthuſiaſm, 'That he had luckily an Expedient, which he did not doubt but ake all Men happy and juſt, even in this Life, the Fleſh ſhould no longer luſt againſt the Spirit. roceeded to explain himſelf, by telling them, Cauſe of all the Wickedneſs and Sin, and by e of all the Miſeries and Afflictions which are in d, ariſing from the Enmity between God and d, by which meant God was often croſs'd in his ations to Mankind both here and hereafter, the by his Temptations making us incapable of the d Favour of our Creator: Therefore he had a he told them) with the Aſſiſtance of Mother- to mediate with the Almighty, [to take the to his F vour again.' It is farther remarkour Projector's Scheme we have been ſpeakd much the ſame Fate with this crack-brain'd s, and render'd one as improper for a Poli- Eyes of the People, as the other was for a What ſhould be the Reaſon that none of ick-ſpirited Gentlemen have not better ſucter ſo many painful and laborious Trials, and xpence of Time and Brain? Why truly, I th been owing principally to a certain Soleliticks, which theſe Adventurers uſually ſet that is, in laying down their own private s the Standard of the Publick Aſſent and Apand not ſufficiently conſulting and conform- Intereſt, Genius, and Humour of the gene- In ſhort, it ſeems to appear that their comſt ariſes from their not having carry'd their s deep enough. But ſo it is, that Succeſs ways attend the moſt aſſiduous and indefatid it is remarkable in the Nature of Things, hath ſometimes puzzled the moſt Learned rating of the Virtuoſi for many Ages, hath n found out by mere Accident, and been of by ſome Smatterer in Science, who had long Time poring about, perhaps, for ſome m of quite a contrary Nature. There is a of a certain Painter, who owed his Succeſs, Study and Application, to a Fit of Deſpair. The Story, if I remember right, is, that having been ſo happy as to draw a beautiful and high-mettl'd Horſe, to add the laſt Graces to him he try'd the whole Powers of his Art to expreſs the Foam properly; but after many fruitleſs Eſſays he at laſt in great Rage threw his Bruſh at it, and luckily atchiev'd by this Accident, what with all his Pains and Skill he found himſelf incapable of effecting. A late and like Incident in Politicks hath furniſhed the Virtuoſi with ſo ſeaſonable and ſo happy a Hint upon Uniformity, that I think there is no Doubt to be made, that in a very little Time you will ſee it fully and perfectly compleated, and that it will be properly and effectually carry'd into Execution. This aroſe from a Set of Bungling Gothamites, who by diſconcerting ſome Springs in the State-Machine, as they imagin'd, had projected at one Movement more to have over-turn'd it quite; but by their Unskilfulneſs in the Working it, reſtor'd it to its natural Powers, and firmly fix'd it upon its right Baſis again. This is ſo valuable as well as ſo remarkable an Incident, that I could not help doing myſelf the Pleaſure of making my Country and you my Compliments upon it.

I am, SIR, Your's, &c.

Carliſle, March 13, 1741. NESTOR BRITANIA.

Berlin, March 24. N. S.

THE King of Pruſſia has ſent the following angry Letter to M. de Pollmann at Ratisbon, and to others of his Miniſters at Foreign Courts:

'Having heard that the Court of Vienna, confounded 'by the Juſtice of my Cauſe, and deſpairing ever to en- 'gage other Powers in its Quarrel, has recourſe to the 'groſſeſt Lies to embroil me with all my Neighbours, 'and ſtrives to blacken my Conduct not only in the 'Empire but elſewhere, by making the World believe 'that I am not content with the Proſecution of my juſt 'Rights in Silefia, but that I likewiſe form Pretenſions 'on all Hands againſt ſeveral Princes and States of the 'Empire; that amongſt others I have ſet forth my 'Claim to the Biſhoprick of Hildeſheim againſt the 'Elector of Cologne, and that I have demanded —— 'of the Biſhop of Bamberg and Wurtsbourg, threaten- 'ing the latter to take Poſſeſſion thereof by Force of 'Arms, I thought it neceſſary for my own Intereſt 'hereby to acquaint you that every Tittle of it is abſo- 'lutely falſe and a mere Invention, it having never ſo 'much as enter'd into my Head. I deſire nothing bet- 'ter than to cultivate a good Friendſhip and Harmony 'with all my Neighbours, eſpecially in the Empire; 'and ſo far am I from endeavouring to form chimeri- 'cal and unjuſt Pretenſions to their Dominions, that I 'really take it ill of ſuch as think to make a Merit with 'me by aſcribing certain Rights to me which I never 'dreamt of. As a Proof of this, I lately made a Sei- 'zure and ordered a Proſecution of an Author of a Pam- 'phlet which was for eſtabliſhing the Pretenſions of my 'Family to all Luſatia. You will not fail to make uſe 'of this at the Court where you are, to obviate the ma- 'licious Inſinuations which my Enemies ſtrive every- 'where to ſpread to my Prejudice, againſt all Appear- 'ance of Truth, and with Intention to plunge me in 'the greateſt Difficulties they can, at the Expence of 'Truth and every thing that is moſt ſacred.'

Vienna, March 25. M. de Paſan, Phyſician, whoſe Buſineſs it has been hitherto to preſcribe to the young Royal Family what they ſhould eat and drink, is not to preſcribe to the young Archduke; the ſecond Empreſs Dowager and the Archduchеſs Mary-Magdalen having undertaken that Province jointly, with the Conſent of the Royal Family.

Since the Queen's Delivery, ſhe has not only had the Pleaſure of a Letter from the Elector of Cologne, ſignifying his Determination to recognize her as lawful Queen of Hungary and Bohemia, but two Days ago Mr. Robinſon the Britiſh Miniſter receiv'd an Expreſs from his Court with Diſpatches which are ſaid to be very ſatisfactory. We are aſſur'd at the ſame time that the Grand Alliance lately talk'd of is very far advanced. Tho' the new Levies go on ſucceſsfully, the Court is in Treaty with the Landgrave of Heſſe and the Prince Adminiſtrator of Wirtemberg for more Troops, and the Pontons that have lain at Peterwaradin ever ſince the War with the Turks are ordered to be ſent to Count Neuperg's Army in Sileſia.

Rubenick, March 20. N. S. Yeſterday a Troop of Auſtrian Huſſars met near Creutzendorff 47 Pruſſian Grenadiers on Horſeback, whom they either put to the Sword or took Priſoners except three who fled to Troppau, from whence 50 Huſſars were diſpatch'd immediately to endeavour to retake the Grenadiers that were made Priſoners, but how they ſped we know not, and their not being yet return'd to Troppau gives ſome Cauſe to ſuſpect that they have perhaps met with the ſame Fate as thoſe they went to ſet at liberty, or that, like many others, they have deſerted.

From the General Quarters at Olmutz, March 22 N.S. Since the Plunder and Burning of Zukmantel the Pruſſians have alſo ſet fire to Johannis-Thal, and to ſome other Places where they apprehended our Huſſars might poſt themſelves. They demand 15000 Florins of the Town of Troppau and 5000 from Neuſtadt, and treat the reſt of Sileſia on the ſame Foot, forcing the young Fellows moreover to enter into the Service of Pruſſia, to ſupply the Place of their Deſerters; and whatever Corn they find here and there they ſend by Water to Croſſen. Since the King's Return to Sileſia, who is now quarter'd at Otmachau, the Number of Workmen employ'd on the Fortifications of Troppau is increas'd. As that Place is with regard to us the Key of Sileſia, 'tis evident that he intends to put it in a State of Defence, and he is ſure to ſucceed, becauſe the only Way by which we can come at him to hinder it is abſolutely unpaſſable by reaſon of the great Quantity of Snow with which the Hills are ſtill cover'd.

Naples, Feb. 28. N. S. The Court has ordered the Council of Commerce to ſignify to the Merchants, that they may load Goods for Conſtantinople on board the two Ships of War St. Philip and Parthenope, which are on their Departure to carry the King's Ambaſſador to the Porte. On the 23d Inſtant, by Order of the Court, Notice was given to Prince Taxis, that he ſhould leave this City and Kingdom within eight Days.

Leghorn, March 10. On the 4th Inſtant ſailed from hence for Portmahone his Britannick Majeſty's Ship the Dragon, with ſeveral Britiſh Merchant-ſhips under her Convoy. She is to call in her Way at Genoa, to take with her ſuch Merchant-ſhips as ſhall be ready. From Portmahone thoſe Ships will proceed under another Convoy for England. The ſaid Ship of War as well as the Merchant-men have taken in at this Port a large Quantity of Biſcuit for Admiral Haddock's Squadron.

Stockholm, March 12. Count Sparre, one of the Senators of this Kingdom, and late his Majeſty's Miniſter to the Court of Great Britain, has been a long time indiſpoſed, and is now thought to be paſt all Hopes of Recovery. Four of the Galleys in this Port are getting ready to put to Sea with all Expedition.

Copenhagen, April 1. N. S. On the 25th paſt died the Grand Veneur, M. Gram, who was likewiſe Privy Councellor, Knight of the Order of the Elephant, and Bailiff of Fredericksbourg and Cronenbourg. The Poſt of Grand Veneur is the moſt lucrative in this Country; and as the Grand Marſhal eldeſt Son to the deceaſed is likely to ſucceed to the aforeſaid Baillages, and of courſe muſt leave the Court, this Accident is like to occaſion two very conſiderable Vacancies. All the Frigates are actually in ſuch a Readineſs, that they may put to Sea in eight or ten Days time; and they have now begun to work upon the Men of War. Yeſterday the Prince Royal of Denmark entred into the 19th Year of his Age, but as it happened to be Good-Friday, his Birthday was not celebrated.

Hague, April 7. N. S. On Wedneſday laſt the Affair of the ſecond Augmentation of 10000 Men was reſumed, and finally concluded by the States General. Letters from Vienna of the 7th of March laſt adviſe, that the Turks had not only acknowledged the Queen of Hungary; but that all Points in Diſpute between them and the Court of Vienna had been compromiſed and finiſhed, by this latter's coming into all the Demands of the Porte, with reſpect to the Limits on the Side of Boſnia; as the Porte is ſaid to have done into thoſe of the Court of Vienna, with reſpect to thoſe on the Side of the Danube. Count Golowkin has receiv'd by the laſt Poſt, Orders to animate this State to declare for the Support of its Engagements in favour of the Queen of Hungary.

Arrived

At Amſterdam, the Lady Elizabeth, Barentz, from London.

At Cork, the Society, Neal, from Briſtol; the Antigua Merchant, from Liverpool; the William, Littledale, from London; the Martha, Smith, from Havre-de-grace; and the Induſtry, Meſnell, from Bourdeaux.

LONDON, April 1.

The Lively Man of War, Capt. Swayland, and the Briſtol Man of War, Capt. Young, with Nine Ships with Proviſions for Jamaica, Barbados and the Leeward Iſlands, ſailed from Cork the 16th of March laſt.

Yeſterday Morning the Right Hon. the Earl of Waldegrave, Knight of the Garter, one of his Majeſty's moſt Hon. Privy Council, and his Majeſty's Ambaſſador to the Court of France, died at his Seat at Naveſtoke in Eſſex.

On Saturday next Sir John Norris will ſet out for Portſmouth, in order to hoiſt the Union Flag on board the Victory.

His Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint Lieutenant Knight, to be a Captain in General Hawley's Regiment of Dragoons.

We hear the Sheriffs have order'd an Inſpection to be made into the Conduct of the Keepers of the City Priſons, and their Officers, who have been guilty of Miſapplication of Charities ſent by well-diſpoſed Perſons for Relief of Debtors, &c. as alſo into the Conduct of Bakers, Butchers, &c. who contract to furniſh Debtors with Proviſions for their Subſiſtence.

Yeſterday was held a Court for the City and Liberty of Weſtminſter in the Town-Court Houſe, Weſtminſter-Hall, before Alexius Clayton, Eſq; Deputy-Steward of the ſaid City and Liberty, when great Numbers of the Inhabitants of the ſaid City were ſummoned to do Suit and Service in the ſaid Court, for Non-payment of the Head-Penny, annually levied by the Conſtables. The Defaulters were all ſummoned to revive that Cuſtom, which has not been exactly obſerved of late by a Number of People.

To JOHN MYDDELTON, of Chirk Caſtle, Eſq;

WE the High Sheriff and Grand Jury for the County of Denbigh, out of due Senſe of your ſteady and conſtant Endeavours for the Service of your Country in Parliament, beg Leave to make this our publick Acknowledgement for your regular Attendance there; and to profeſs our ſincere Approbation of your paſt Conduct: A Conduct guided by Principles void of the Spirit of Faction, and regardleſs of oſtentatious Clamour propagated and encouraged to diſturb the Eaſe and Quiet of this County and the Kingdom in general: A Conduct ever zealous for the Support of our eſtabliſh'd Religion, and jealous of every Attack that may be made upon it, when others who loudly claim a Merit in its Protection, had openly violated the Truſt repoſed in them, as Repreſentatives of the People.

Therefore we the Grand Jury moſt heartily join in repeating the Requeſt made to you by the Two preceding Juries, with full Aſſurances of our beſt Endeavours to recommend your Juſtice and Integrity, the moſt ſhining and eſſential Virtues neceſſary for ſo great a Truſt; and in full Confidence of your Fidelity and Uprightneſs, we ſhall, notwithſtanding the falſe Suggeſtions and baſe Inſinuations of a deſigning Faction, entirely rely upon your Behaviour, without Reſtraint or Preſcription, Requiſites neceſſary only for Weak and Corrupt Repreſentatives.

Ruthin, March 23. 1740.

For the PALSY,
An infallible and ſpeedy Cure, by an Antimonial Medicine, being a moſt pleaſant Chymical Tincture, to be taken in Drops,
WHICH gives inſtant Relief in Paralytick or Nervous Indiſpoſitions, from whatſoever Cauſe ſoever; and alſo in all Weakneſſes, or Diſtempers of Nature, whether from Old Age, or occaſioned by exceſſive Weakneſs of Body, or any Irregularities of Living, ſuch as Drinking, &c. whereby Nature is ſorely weakened, and the Nerves in a Manner quite ſpoiled.

This infallible Chymical Tincture is endued with ſuch ſpecifick Qualities, that it inſtantly enters the Nervous Syſtem, the principal Seat of all Complaints of a Paralytick Kind, reſtores natural Heat and Strength to a Degree conſiſtent with a perfect State of Health; and in a very little time perfectly cures the moſt Paralytick Weakneſſes of the longeſt ſtandings, and the moſt ſevereſt or worſt Effects of it either on old or young People, as the ſhaking or trembling of the Limbs, Numbneſs, or Deadneſs on any Part of the Body; as has been happily experienced by great Numbers of both Sexes, and all Ages, ſince its Publication.

As for any Weakneſſes or Decays of Nature, whether Paralytick or otherwiſe, this Tincture has not its Equal; it is ſo ſafe in its Operation, as not to give the leaſt Diſturbance to the Patient, but in its Effects ſo ſtrong and prevalent, that all Decays and Weakneſſes of Nature, whether Paralytick, Convulſive, or any other Indiſpoſitions attending the Head and Nerves, are inſtantly relieved, and daily mended; ſo as in a ſhort Time a perfect Cure is accompliſhed.

It is exceeding pleaſant to take, ſafe in Operation, perfectly agreeable to the Stomach and Palate, promotes Digeſtion, cauſes a good Appetite, revives and ſtrengthens the whole Human Frame, and is ſo ſafe and regulating in all Paralytick, Convulſive, and other Nervous Indiſpoſitions, that nothing in the World was ever yet known near it.

It is ſold by ſpecial Order of the Author, at Mr. Markham's Toyſhop, the Seven Stars under the Dial of Churchin Fleet-ſtreet, for 3s. 6d. each Bottle.

IT cannot but be a great Satisfaction to the Friends of the preſent Adminiſtration, that ſuch of its Enemies as have Malice enough to ſay any Thing, if it were in their Power, are yet in their angrieſt Moments able to advance nothing but Chimera's, the mere Fictions of their own Imaginations; and for which, if you will not have Words, you never ſhall have any Evidence. Of this Stamp is the Engliſhman's Journal of Saturday. A Paper which for Blackneſs of Thought, Nakedneſs of Language, excels all the Libels hitherto known, with the Title of Common Senſe.

The Author ſets out with informing us, that ſome Friend of his Acquaintance, who thought that a War with Spain would coſt as little as the Expences of an Ambaſſador in that Court; that it would be conclu-ded in leſs than a Year, and that it would be attended with no Manner of Inconveniences, are miſtaken.—— From hence he concludes, not that his Friends were falſe Politicians, but that ſomebody elſe ought to be hanged, for not fulfilling their Expectations. —— A wiſe Concluſion truly!

With equal Wiſdom he proceeds to inform us, that the Nations heretofore beat France and Spain, when we had the Power upon our Hands, it was not doubted, but that we ſhould quickly demoliſh the latter, when we were deal with her alone. Every Reader of his Pamphlet muſt be ſenſible how much Truth there is in what he ſays, and the Connection between it and his Concluſion. When we had to do with France and Spain, with the Aſſiſtance of the Emperor, the King of Portugal, the Duke of Savoy, the States of Holland, and ſeveral German Princes; nay, we had a great Part of the Spaniſh Nation in our Intereſt, and the Two Sicilies not an Ally, except the Electors of Cologne and Bavaria, who were ſtripp'd of their Dominions during the greateſt Part of the War; and yet with all this Force, and notwithſtanding the many Defeats we gave the French, yet we had no great Reaſon to boaſt of our Succeſs in Spain, tho' the moſt able Officers were employed there, ſome of whom are yet living. And tho' it is true that we have no open Enemy but Spain, yet it is likewiſe true, that ſhe has many ſecret Friends among the Powers of Europe, and muſt have ſuch when-ever ſhe quarrel with her, let who will be in the Adminiſtration here. As deſpicable as he would repreſent her, it is freſh in all our Memories, that ſhe did maintain a War alone againſt Us, the Emperor, and Spain: So that his Friends need not be ſo much aſhamed that we have not entirely ruined Spain in One Year, yet, I believe, if the Truth was thoroughly known, we have gone a good Way towards it. And as to the Miſchief Spain has done us, I am thoroughly perſwaded it does not exceed what every competent Judge in the World expected, conſidering the Number of our Merchant-ſhips, and our Enemies having no other Veſſels than Privateers.

All of a ſudden, without any natural Tranſition, he falls a talking of a Grand Vizier, and tells us a Story of a Dream and a Bull, of ſomebody that ſhould ſay ſomething, that nobody ſhould have any Power but himſelf. Being conſcious of this Abſurdity he inſtantly, in the Words of Job to his own Tale, cries out, I own theſe Things incredible; but it is very eaſy to find out whether there is any Ground for ſuch Reports.——Is it ſo? Why then not enquire into the Truth of them, before he afforded them a Place in his Paper? ——— Shame the World, becauſe it is not fit it ſhould remain ſecret— he was afraid to make ſuch an Enquiry, becauſe he was morally certain he ſhould find them all falſe.

Having done with the Reports of others, we are immediately preſented with a Rhapſody of his own Dreams. Were ſomebody who ſhould ſay, in this Kingdom, in this Age, I will have ſuch an Act made, I will have ſuch an Act repealed; in order, ſays he, to ſhew the Power of the whole Legiſlature himſelf. Or, I have a Mind that ſuch a Law ſhould paſs one Houſe, but I have ordered it to be thrown out in another.—— Such unintelligable Stories, that this Man would have paſs upon Common Senſe; mere Fictions of his own, and no Part of the Purpoſe, with reſpect to our Political Affairs preſent, than if, as a Gentleman ſaid t'other Day, upon a more ſolemn Occaſion, he had filled up his Paper with the old Ballad of Chevy-Chace.

In truth we cannot but ſmile at the Malice of ſome Men, who, after having been baffled in the boldeſt Attack they ever made for want of being able to prove any Part of what they advanced, think however to bubble the World again by putting their Scriblers on calling him Grand Vizir, Coloſſus of State, and twenty other Names altogether void of Senſe or Meaning, and with much greater Juſtice might be applied to ſome of their Patrons, who are the verrieſt Tyrants in the World over the little Circle of their Dependants.

Laſt of all, to ſhew that he has as little Knowledge, even of the commoneſt Parts of Engliſh Hiſtory, as he has of Law, Reaſon, or Argument, he trumps up a Tale of Lord Danby, Lord High Treaſurer in the Reign of King Charles II. which he has made a ſhift to diſtort in ſuch a Manner that one can ſcarce tell what to make of it. However the Fact is ſo far from being what he takes it to be, the Commons had ſo little Notion of the Earl of Danby's having entered into this Negociation of his own Head, that the celebrated Author of the Diſſertation upon Parties fairly owns their Deſign was againſt the King, they knew it was his Negociation, not the Treaſurer's, and they knew it from the beſt Evidence that could be, they knew it from Montague, who manag'd the Negociation and who gave up the Treaſurer and his Maſter as far as in him lay, to ſcreen himſelf. Sure there never was ſo ſtrange a Piece of Evidence as this produced to ſo odd a Purpoſe. This Writer intended to ſhew that the Earl of Danby was ſo abſolute a Miniſter that he aſſumed Regal Power, which muſt mean acting without the King, and to juſtify this he tells us of a Letter written by the Treaſurer againſt his Will, and under the expreſs Direction of his Maſter, ſignified to prevent Miſtakes by a Note under the King's own Hand. ——— Was there ever ſuch Reaſoning, was there ever ſuch Proof, was there ever a Man more deficient in Common Senſe than this ſame Author of ours?

But what would he deduce from all this miſerable Stuff? Why no leſs than a new Species of Treaſon. He has got it in his Head, that if any Perſon but a Secretary of State writes to one of the King's Miniſters abroad, this is Treaſon; perhaps a Week or two hence he will venture to aſſert, that a certain Perſon at a certain Time did write to a certain Ambaſſador certain Things, concerning which he is ready to make any thing—— ſave Proof. At this rate he maintains himſelf and amuſes his Party, promiſes them ſtrange things from day to day, and being able to ſhew his Spleen no other Way, calls the Great Man he hates a thouſand ill Names, and conſidering the Weakneſs of his own and his Party's Endeavours, wiſhes in the Agony of his Soul that he would ſay ſomething to deſtroy himſelf, that once in their Lives his Friends might have a credible Witneſs.

What a Variety of Learning, Wit and Argument, what Marks of ſtrong Senſe and deep Reading, what Signs of Mildneſs, Moderation and Magnanimity appear in this political Miſcellany! Sure no Reader can reſiſt ſuch convincing Teſtimonies, or doubt the Worth of that Cauſe in defence of which ſo excellent a Writer draws his Pen! Alas! alas! had he written in the Gazetteer, the Ruin of his Country had been completed, he would then have juſtified with equal Strength all the Meaſures he now condemns; but his Virtue and his Circumſtances ſet him above Corruption, and taught him like his great Predeceſſor Don Quixot to wage eternal War with Windmills and Grand Vizirs, in which to be ſure he runs great Dangers, tho' I believe thoſe he endeavours to provoke will never return his Wiſh, that he may be hang'd for what he ſays, but rather pity him, and pray that he may have ſo much Grace, as never in a Fit of Remorſe to hang himſelf.
